ACLS AND PALS INSTRUCTOR POSITIONS

We are inviting you to bring your knowledge of life support and work experience to our classrooms!

Share your knowledge, your skills, and insight with students, nurses, and other health care professionals as an educator for the UCLA Center for Prehospital Care.

As the leading emergency and prehospital academic center on the West Coast, we offer you the opportunity to work with career educators, develop lesson plans, maintain your skills, and maybe even develop new ones.

All with the convenience of course schedules that allow you to work around your current job. So you'll instruct current and future healthcare providers and earn extra money doing it!

General Description:

The ACLS and PALS Instructor's primary responsibilities include lecturing and providing ACLS and PALS skills instruction according to the American Heart Association (AHA) Community Training Center standards. Courses are provided for the UCLA Medical Center and the general medical community at large.

Responsibilities include: providing mini-demonstrations, acting as a student advocate in the learning process, and creating an active learning environment. These are part-time per diem positions with only 12 shifts required per year. Starting rate is $24 per hour (higher rates available based on level of education and licensure).

Job Requirements:

- Current licensure as a paramedic, RN, MD, or respiratory therapist.
- One-year minimum of work experience as a paramedic, RN, MD, or RT.
- One-year minimum of teaching experience.
- Current BLS provider certification.
- Current ACLS and/or PALS provider certifications.
- Current ACLS and/or PALS instructor certifications.
- Current PHTLS provider and instructor certifications (optional).
